Competition final 2020

This competition will finish on Sunday 26 April 2020.

At the end of the Winter Dressage Competition, the top eight from each section will receive a prize and a gorgeous huge rosette. The winner of each section will also receive a Quaich bowl and a sash for their horse. To receive one of these prizes you need to be at this final show.

The competition rules state that, to be eligible for these end-of-season prizes, the horse and rider combination must have competed (and finished) in three classes at the same level.

Horse and rider combinations can compete in the Preliminary competition (covering Introductory and Preliminary classes) and also in the Novice and Elementary section as long as they have competed (and finished) in three classes at the same level.

To enable the points to be calculated for this competition, the Malthouse Centre and NiSCO NDT Consulting will hold personal information on the horse and rider combination for no longer than two years. If you do not wish both or either parties to hold this information, please inform the Malthouse Secretary so as your records can be removed. (If your records are removed, we will be unable to keep a note of your points tally and so you will not be able to take part in this competition.)

Could competitors please confirm that their own, as well as their horses name, are recorded correctly - sometimes horses may be entered under their registered name and also under their stable name. We just want to ensure that you are allocated with all the points due!

Many thanks for your help and continued support!
